

Man, 70, Confesses Two Fires; Suspected of Others

MAN, 70, ADMITS FIRING BUILDINGS; IS NOW IN JAIL

Frank Cornell, of Lumberville, Suspected of Firing Other Places

ACCUSE HIM OF ARSON

Will Be Tried at Next Term of Criminal Court At Doylestown

A man 70 years old is in the Doylestown jail being held on the charge of arson, after having confessed to having started two fires in Bucks County. He is suspected of having been the instigator of many others over a period of the past 30 years.

The prisoner is Frank Cornell, 70, Lumberville, Bucks County. He is being held without bail and will be tried before the next term of criminal court on the charge of arson. He was taken into custody yesterday.

Cornell admits that he fired the barn of Edward Paxson, Lumberville, on March 9th and that he fired the woodshed of Mrs. Evelyn Johnson on an adjoining farm. The Paxson barn was a total loss and was valued at $20,000.

In tracing Cornell's past record for 30 years back it is found that on practically every farm where he lived the barn was burned as well as several fires on adjoining farms during the time that he was a resident in the community.

On March 9th, last, the large Paxson barn was destroyed but no one ever knew the origin of the blaze. The Paxson family was away at the time of the fire.

On Sunday, January 5th, 1930, the woodshed of Mrs. Evelyn Johnson was discovered ablaze by neighbors who extinguished the flames before much damage was done. The shed was close to the house and had the flames not been discovered the dwelling and other buildings would have been destroyed. At the time of the discovery of this fire Cornell was seen coming from the direction of the shed. He lived alone on an adjoining property.

A few days ago County Fire Marshal William L. Stackhouse, of Hulmeville, was called into the case and he began an investigation. He in turn called Corporal Francis, Doylestown State Police Barracks. On Saturday the two officers visited Cornell and questioned him at length. He was grilled for three hours and finally told the investigators that he did set fire to the woodshed. He described in detail just how he did it.

Cornell told the officers that he walked over to the Johnson place when no one was at home. He went into the woodshed and struck a match on an iron hook and dropped it among some papers and then went back to his house. A few minutes later, according to the prisoner, some boys came to his house and called him out to see the "Northern Lights." It was the Johnson shed burning.

Cornell later admitted that he had also fired the Paxson barn and, accompanied by the officers, he went both to the Johnson place and the Paxson farm and re-enacted the manner in which he had started both blazes.

Cornell has lived in Bucks County practically all of his life. He is a widower and lives alone. Thirty years ago he resided at Stoopsville, near Newtown. During this time barns were burned in the section. Later Cornell moved to the Bridgeton section and the barn on the farm which he occupied was destroyed by fire. Then he moved to Holicong and here also barns were laid to waste by fire. He was always suspected but no investigations were ever made. A check-up points the finger of suspicion at him for being the cause of at least a dozen of 15 barn fires.

In admitting the Paxson and Johnson fires Cornell told the officers that he just can't help it. "I have no spite against these people. I work for them and they use me fine," he is quoted as saying. "I am sorry for it."

Cornell denies responsibility for the other fires.

PERKASIE EXPENDED $71,769 FOR EDUCATION

Largest Outlay During Year Was for Teachers' Salaries

MUCH FOR TEXT BOOKS

PERKASIE, Jan. 14.—Education of the pupils in the local schools cost a trifle more than $70,000 during the last school term, according to a report made public by auditors who passed reports of the Board of Education.

Total receipts for all school purposes were $72,833.97 and the total disbursements for the school year $71,769.75 leaving a balance of $1,064.22 to start the present term.

Largest of all outlays was salaries of teachers which called for an expenditure of $33,728.76, exclusive of the $2,700 salary of the school supervisor. Janitors' services cost $2,460; fuel, $762.28, and water, light and power, $1,112.75. The sum of $1,407.78 was spent for repairs to buildings, $682.28 for maintenance of grounds and $113.80 for apparatus.

The Board also expended $2,350.99 for text books during the term and $2,221.93 for supplies for school purposes. It cost $512 to send the local instructors to teachers' institute for a week.

This borough has quite a school plant, not taking into account the $150,000 consolidated high school now under construction. It owns school sites and buildings worth $103,247.72, and had $1,037.22 in the board treasury, a neat total of $104,284.94, for assets. At the time the report was made the total school indebtedness was $47,900, made up of a bonded indebtedness of $34,400 and $17,500 in outstanding short term loans.

Three-Year-Old Hulmeville Child Spells Over One Hundred Words Correctly By "The Stroller"

On Hulmeville's Main street lives a three-year old spelling wonder—a chubby-faced little tot by the name of Walter Donald Hanns. And by the way he can spell his name, too. Such words as "dog" and "cat" are "pie" for Donald, for he can cock his curly head on one side and spell three and four letter words one after the other with hardly any forethought. And eight and nine letter words are really easy, and some that Donald knows have even eleven and twelve letters. "Evaporated" and "cinnamon" aren't hard, and neither are "marshmallow" and "macaroni."

This child prodigy made his entrance into the world September 11, 1926, and now at the age of three years he can spell over 100 words at a minute's notice. The tot's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hanns, have not taken any unusual pains to train their bright off-spring in this phase of learning. Several months ago he began to show an aptitude for words, and pointed them out on boxes and cans of food which were brought to the Hanns home. He started inquiring about certain words, asking what letters comprised this and that, and soon he learned to spell a number of smaller ones.

There is hardly a day passes but what the lovable little boy asks what certain letters spell when he sees them on calendars or papers about the house. He shows remarkable ability in retaining words in his memory, and his relatives are justly proud of him.

A partial list of words the three-year old spells with ease includes: Unity, dare, goat, hat, baby, cow, pig, shredded, eat, arm, nest, bird, net, owe, moon, off, on, wheat, rose, lamb, bell, fan, well, will, Alice, jaw, jam, toes, hand, nose, ear, eye, did, Christmas, turkey, free, tree, tools, ink, Indian, cocoa, water, soap, boat, sale, sail, saw, hammer, Boy Scout, campfire, marshmallow, freight, postage, the, may, pay, we, China, horse, one, oil, zoo, yard, mouse, syrup. House, ice, rat, rice, oats, post, card, dog, cap, cat, bat, apple, ball, bear, bee, fish, duck, goose, girl, boy, flower, cheese, oven, uncle, daddy, mother, quick, quality, perfect, cinnamon, evaporated, onion, tea, coffee, pepper, salt, macaroni, egg, milk, Crisco, soup, omeatoes, beans, butter, bread, January, Donald Hanns, Walter.

ARROWS DOWN FIGHTING FIVE; SCORE, 35 TO 19

League-Leading Gypsies Swallow Bitter Pill; Lose to Shamrocks

TWO FINE CONTESTS

In the first game of the A. O. H. Court League last evening the Arrows overwhelmed and easily defeated the Fighting Five aggregation, running up the one-sided score of 35 to 19. By virtue of this win the Arrows are again playing five hundred ball, having won four and lost four.

Mulligan and Thompson played best for the Fighters, scoring seven and six points respectively. Summary of game:

ARROWS
Player	Goals—	Field	Penalty
Rodgers f	6	0	12
Sullivan f	2	0	4
M. Fallon c	8	1	17
Jno. Mulligan g	1	0	2
Totals	17	1	35

FIGHTING FIVE
Player	Goals—	Field	Penalty
Thompson f	3	0	6
Jos. Mulligan f	3	1	7
Talbot c	2	0	4
M. Downs g	0	0	0
H. Brady g	0	2	2
Totals	8	3	19

In the second game of the evening the tail-end Shamrocks defeated the league-leading Gypsies by the score of 27-20. This was a bitter pill for the Gypsies to swallow, as they had lost but one game until the Shamrocks put this one over on them. The game was ferociously fought from start to finish but the Shamrocks took the lead in the early minutes of play and held it throughout the entire fray. Captain (Continued on Page Four)

PHARMACIST SITS AS 2ND WARD COUNCILMAN

Harry H. Headley, Native of Borough, Fills Vacancy in Legislative Body

SUCCEEDS MR. GRUNDY

The Second Ward's new councilman, Harry H. Headley, who was elected by Council last night to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Senator Joseph R. Grundy, is a native resident of the Borough. He is descended from one of the old pioneer families of Bucks County and is the son of the late Howard and Keturah (Hibbs) Headley.

Mr. Headley was educated in the public schools of Bristol and later entered the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and was graduated in 1881. Immediately after graduating as a pharmacist Mr. Headley returned to Bristol where he clerked for three years and then was employed by the late Louis Hognet in whose employ he remained for a period of 13 years.

In September, 1895, Mr. Headley entered business on his own account and established his drug store at the corner of Wood and Washington streets. He is active in community affairs, being a member of Bristol Lodge of Elks, Rotary Club and other fraternal organizations. He is vice-president of The Bristol Trust Company. He brings to council a long experience in the business world and a familiarity with the town's advancement, growth and needs.

THE IDEAL CITIZEN

An ideal citizen is the one who sees clearly and ever something good in Bristol and never loses the opportunity to spread that good news abroad that others might derive the benefits therefrom, whose unselfishness prompts him to want others to share opportunities, health and pleasure which his home city offer.

Loyalty is the first requisite for the ideal citizen. The love for the place and his neighbors which disposes the thought of self interest or policy and resolves itself into the knowledge of duty when he does all in his power to make the city a better place in which to live.

There are three distinct attitudes which a citizen may assume toward the place in which he lives, which furnishes him food, shelter and association for himself and family, to boost, to remain quiet or to knock. The booster is that ideal citizen who is never forgetful of the obligations which are due the home city. He is ever found at the front when any movement is launched which might tend to the advancement of the interest of the city. While others see darkly, to him good is visible at all times. The quiet citizen is satisfied to let the neighbor do the work and content to lull the city asleep and let it rest. The knocker is the man who is without a country. There is no room for him anywhere, his presence dampens the enthusiasm of every man or group of men who unfortunately come in contact with him. Having no faith in his own ability to go forward, he naturally lacks faith in his home city to do so.

You have the chance to belong to either of the three classes. If you are a booster, your neighbor knows it well and will boost you. If you are aligned with the quiet class, you will not be regarded one way or the other, for the man who selects to steer in the middle of the stream, gets no support from either side. If unfortunately you are a knocker, get ready to be knocked, for eventually it is coming to you. As you give, so will it be meted out to you.

Bristol would be an ideal city if only there were more ideal citizens. Let's have them.

Twenty years ago today those who criticize our young people now were being criticized.

A new device changes people's noses. Sticking them where they don't belong does the same.

"You may eat chicken with your fingers," says etiquette hints. You may, but you may need a hatchet.

The average man is so optimistic that he actually laughs at trouble except, of course, when the trouble is his own.

Our best-dressed woman now is the one who used to complain that she had nothing to wear.

The only reason boys fare better than girls is because nobody expects them to be perfect.

Cigarettes and bobbed hair are going out of style in Paris just about the time they began to be moral.

Report comes that action of Muscle Shoals is in the offing, but we should not rush into this matter blindly and without due consideration.

SYNOPSIS

Joe Lane, an ex-plugger, now a song plugger and hit of the Q. R. S. A. radio station, is given a contract to make phonograph records through the efforts of Arthur Phillips, general manager of the station. Phillips is infatuated with Katherine, Joe's wife, and when she comes in to go to lunch with her husband, Phillips informs her that he has got Joe the contract only because of her. Katherine is furious, but fears to tell Joe lest he fight with the manager. Joe, believing Phillips to be his best friend, goes into his office to borrow some money.

CHAPTER II—Continued

Phillips jumped in his chair as the door to his office swung open. Joe was coming into the room. For one tense second the manager thought that Joe had come to have things out. Waves of intense heat and cold ran through his body. His face paled. His hands became moist and clammy. It seemed hours before he could move. Then he rose quickly, leaning against the desk for support. And then he saw that Joe was smiling—a friendly, good-natured smile. He took a deep breath, like a swimmer coming up after a long stay under water.

"Why don't you knock when you come in here?" Phillips was surprised.

He counted out nine ten-dollar bills prised at the sound of his own voice. And he said the first thing that came into his mind. "Say, listen," Joe retorted jovially. "If there's anything I hate it's a knocker. Lend me a century, will you, Art?" He held out his hand expectantly.

Phillips frowned and looked very stern. Now that his fright was over, he felt weak and limp, and to hide his own emotional reaction he blustered and made a pretense of severity.

"What the Sam Hill do you do with all your money?" Phillips asked. "You get paid all the time, yet you come borrowing. Where do you spend it?"

"Oh, I endow hospitals and colleges—and take subscriptions to magazines to help kids through college—and—say," Joe caught sight of a purse on the desk. "Isn't that Katherine's bag?" He touched the pocketbook curiously.

"Oh, yes, it is," Phillips nodded hurriedly. "I hadn't noticed it. I guess she forgot it when she was in here talking to me."

Joe picked up the bag. "Well, come on, big boy! Give!" He held out his hand. "One century, ten sawbucks, one hundred little smackers. Give in!"

Phillips dug down into his pocket and pulled forth a roll of bills. Carefully he peeled off four twenty dollar bills and two tens and handed them to Joe.

"Thanks, Art," Joe rolled the money into a little wad in his hand. "See you later. I got those Excelsior boys fixed up okay." He hurried back to the reception room without waiting for any comment from Phillips.

"Here you are, Kitty," He counted the money into his wife's hand, keeping one of the ten dollar bills himself. "Ninety smackers. I'm holdin' out a sawbuck."

"I wish you hadn't done that, Joe," Kitty began slowly.

"Why, that's all right, honey," Joe protested. "Art's big hearted that way. He's a swell guy." Katherine's eyes narrowed and her lips pouted. "I don't like to spend his money, though. I do wish you would take care of money and not have to borrow from him."

"Oh, don't be finicky, sweets. I'll pay him back," Joe assured his wife. "Look," he held up her purse, distracting her attention. "You left your bag in his office."

Katherine reached mechanically for the pocketbook and opened it, thrusting the bills into it. She had to lower her head to look at the

More and More COLDS treated EXTERNALLY

A GENERATION AGO, Vicks originated the better method of treating colds externally. Today, the whole trend of medical practice is away from needless "dosing", and the demand for Vicks has increased to "Over 26 Million Jars Used Yearly."

Mothers appreciate Vicks, because there's no "dosing" to upset children's stomachs. It is equally good for adults. Just rubbed on, Vicks acts thru the skin like a plaster; it also gives off medicated vapors which are inhaled.

Now 26 million jars used yearly

A Fine Record of Fair Dealing

Adjusting losses is but one part of Stock Fire Insurance service. Naturally, in the mind of the assured, it looms large when loss occurs. At that time it is the most important process of all.

Every day the adjuster meets people who have sustained losses against which they were insured. Whether greeted cordially or gruffly, the adjuster must handle his problem with tact and fairness. The reputation of his company goes with him into every case.

A Million Fire Loss Reports

Nearly a million reports of fire loss are filed annually with the Stock Fire Insurance companies. Of the claims arising from these reports, more than 99 percent are adjusted without resort to litigation; a splendid tribute to the fairness of the contracting parties — the public and the fire insurance companies.

The value of good will in the adjusting of losses is as much appreciated by the Stock Fire Insurance companies as it is in the acquisition of business.

Public Confidence

The records afford ample evidence of the sincere purpose of adjusters to settle claims in keeping with the rights of all concerned.

To the fair dealing of its adjusters Stock Fire Insurance owes a large measure of the public confidence which it enjoys.

THE NATIONAL BOARD OF FIRE UNDERWRITERS

85 John Street, New York

A NATIONAL ORGANIZATION OF
STOCK FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES
ESTABLISHED IN 1866

It all depends on one man

Fire insurance is built entirely on confidence: your own confidence in the company which insures you, and in the agent who writes your insurance.

You buy a definite measure of service to be performed in case of loss. The insurance company lives up to the agreement made for it by the agent. He is the man who determines today what the insurance company will do months or years from now when fire destroys your property.

It all depends on one man... your fire insurance agent.

If his name and reputation stand for the best in insurance practice — you may be certain that you are well protected. He will be sure that every possible loss is forestalled.

This agency represents insurance companies whose very names are pledges of dependability to their agents. And the service we render must always measure up to the public idea of real insurance protection.

FARMER FINDS QUICK RELIEF IN NEW KONJOLA

New Medicine Wins Quick Victory Over Stubborn Case

MR. DON S. BAKER

"I am a farmer and enjoyed my work until my stomach, liver and bowels became badly disordered," said Mr. Don S. Baker, R. D. No. 2, Townsville, Pa. "Food did not digest and painful gases formed after eating. A sluggish liver made me bilious and often dizzy. I was never free from constipation and my whole system was suffering from accumulated poisons. My general health became so poor from lack of nourishment and proper sleep that I could no longer do my work."

"Three bottles of Konjola made a decided change in my condition. I now eat what I wish without any painful after effects. The bilious attacks and back pains are gone as my liver works properly. I am free from constipation for the first time in years. My general health has so improved that my work is again a pleasure. My skin, which was formerly sallow, is clearing up and even my catarrh, from which I suffered for years, is decidedly better. Konjola is truly a master medicine."

Konjola is sold in Bristol at Hoffman's Cut Rate store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—(Adv.)

... in a magician it's SKILL!

... in a cigarette it's TASTE!

It takes more than cleverness to make a good cigarette. Taste is either there, or it isn't; deception plays no part.

We put taste first, in making Chesterfield. Tobaccos are chosen and blended for mildness, for aroma, for tobacco flavor; taste is always what counts.

And Chesterfield's huge popularity seems to prove that the same thing counts with smokers as with us —

"TASTE above everything"
